

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

This invention relates to methods and compositions for the production of glycoconjugates. In particular, organisms are provided with at least one heterologous gene encoding an enzyme for regenerating a sugar nucleotide along with at least one glycosyltransferase. Such organisms are useful for the large-scale synthesis of glycoconjugates.